Council Adopted Recommendation of Commissioners Against Appointing a Fiscal Agent in London

"I made several applications verbally and one in writing to have plans and specifications submitted but they never were. * * I asked the commissioners to have the plans and specifications submitted in the usual form but they were not, and in this case, you could not expect me to inspect a building that I knew not what the plans and specifications called for. Furthermore, if I did inspect this building and order any changes, would they be carried out? From my best experience, I think not. When there was an engineer and an architect supervising and inspecting this structure from the foundation to its present state, I could not be held responsible in any way for the weakness or collapse of this building as the city would not file the plans or specifications. They conveyed the idea to me, when I asked for the plans, that it was unnecessary for me to have any of the money, as the interests of the city were guarded by much superior talent. I might mention that all plans of civic buildings are approved of and passed by the council. This should not be done until their official inspection has O.K.'d them. As a matter of fact, the council knows practically nothing about plans of buildings and providing they had the technical knowledge, they have not the time to detect defects which might appear in plans or specifications. I might state also that it is a matter on record that the council has over-ruled my authority on any recommendations that I have."

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY IN CONSTRUCTION OF G.T.P.

Up-to-Date Methods in Use on National Trans-Continental—Steel to Reach Prairie Creek by End of August.

An innovation in Canadian railroad construction, introduced by the G.T.P., construction camps from Wolf Creek west, is the use of wireless telegraphy in connecting up several camps. The idea was first worked out in connection with two camps on the Wolf Creek. It merely connected two camps, one the engineer's and the other the Construction Company, on opposite sides of the river and about half a mile apart.

The wireless system in use is not of the latest Marconi type, but it follows along those general lines. The system in use, with the apparatus used by resident engineer Brewer, and it has been found to work so successfully that it is now extended from Wolf Creek to a camp six miles up the line, and from there to another camp eight miles farther along.

With the aim of reaching Prairie Creek by steel some time early this fall, in order to assemble material there for the construction of a bridge, all work along the line west of Wolf Creek is being rushed as rapidly as possible.

It is expected that the first train will cross the McLeod river about the first of July. That is, if present plans are carried out. The building of the two great bridges, one over Wolf Creek and the other over the McLeod, is progressing at a rate never before heard of in the history of the G.T.P. The substantial work, for which the May Construction Company have the contract, is called by the contract to be finished by April 15th. It will be all complete by April 16th.

CENSUS NEXT YEAR

Will Probably Show Canada's Population to be Over 8,000,000.

Ottawa, April 12.—Mr. Archibald Blue, special census commissioner, and other officials connected with the Dominion census branch of the Agricultural Department, are already beginning preparations for the census of Canada which will be taken next year. There is one every ten years, and the last occurred in 1901, the next one, or fifth, has to be taken in 1911. As extensive preparations have to be made, the government officials are already at work on them.

EDITOR SHOT MAYOR

Moorehouse, Mo., April 12.—A political feud of three years' standing terminated today in the killing of Dr. L. W. Hart, mayor of Moorehouse, on Main street by Claude B. Hay, editor of the Moorehouse Herald. Hay shot Hart as the latter emerged from a grocery, and without a word fired three shots. Three of the bullets took effect in Hart's body. He walked into a drug store next door and fell dead.

A VERY YOUNG MOTHER.

Chicago, Ill., April 12.—Officials of the juvenile court today began an investigation of the case of Anna Epps, ten years old, who gave birth to a baby girl at the county hospital several days ago. It was reported that the young mother and child were doing well. The young mother's age has been shown that she is just ten years old, said the physician at the hospital. She is probably the youngest mother in this part of the world.

CLARKE AND MINTY WILL NOT APPEAR BEFORE THE ROYAL COMMISSION HERE; DO THEY WANT TO AVOID HAWES' WRIT?

H. A. Robson, Counsel for the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, has Also Withdrawn From the Investigation—Counsel Were Informed of Change in Plans Only a Half-Hour Before the Hour of This Morning's Session.

That W. R. Clarke and C. D. Minty would not appear before the Royal Commission which is investigating the A. & G. W. Railway was the surprising information given out by W. L. Walsh, K.C., when the Commission resumed its sittings this morning. With it was coupled the information that H. A. Robson, who has been representing the railway company before the Commission had withdrawn and would not be present at any further sessions of the Commission.

Outside of the Commission it was said that the reason for this sudden change was the Hawes writ, that neither Mr. Clarke nor Mr. Minty were willing to stay in Edmonton to accept service of the writ because that would necessitate their remaining here a great length of time while that action was tried out.

Immediately upon the entrance of the Commissioners Mr. Sydney B. Woods said that on account of the illness of Mr. P. J. Nolan of Calgary, who was watching Premier Rutherford's interests, he had been asked by the Premier to attend the Commission in his interests until Mr. Nolan would be able to be there himself.

Then Mr. Walsh announced Mr. Robson's withdrawal.

"Is Mr. W. R. Clarke in the room?" asked Mr. Walsh.

No answer came and then Mr. Walsh told the Commission that just half an hour before the time set for the sitting he and Mr. Johnston had received an intimation that neither Mr. Clarke nor Mr. Minty would be present, and that Mr. Minty had returned to Winnipeg. Mr. Minty's letter to them had been personal but he could say that Mr. Minty had said that if the Commission decided to go to Winnipeg he would be glad to give evidence there.

Counsel Will Have to Confront.

In view of these developments which had come within the last half hour, Mr. Walsh said that they were rather unprompted. Relying on the statement that Mr. Clarke would appear before the Commission, they had sent him word that they would require his presence this morning. Mr. Clarke's evidence was of imperative necessity to secure production of documents. Relying on his presence they had outlined their course of procedure, intending that Mr. J. K. Cornwall should be the first witness in the main enquiry. How, if the change in Mr. Clarke's plans would change their line, he could not say without consultation.

"The evidence of Clarke, Minty and others connected with the company would be essential to the proper conduct of the enquiry, added Mr. Walsh. In the presence of this unexpected state of affairs, said Mr. Bennett, from his instructions and from the knowledge which he had, he felt that without the presence of these witnesses the investigation would be nothing more than a farce. On the first day of the investigation Mr. Robson had given a very emphatic denial to the statement that Mr. Clarke would not appear. The counsel of the Commission had been justified in assuming that they might rely upon a statement solemnly made by counsel and had it not been for that Minty would have been captured by a subpoena last night. The counsel of the Commission had been put in an unfair position. In Winnipeg the Commission would have no power to compel answers to questions.

"This province's rights and authority has been made a laughing stock of by a few boulders who have cut their borders," declared Mr. Bennett.

Bennett Will Not Withdraw.

It was apparent, continued Mr. Bennett, that the conduct of the enquiry without the evidence of these witnesses would be an abortive attempt. He could not see that he would be warranted on continuing before the Commission to assist in bringing forward evidence.

"Do I understand that you withdraw?" asked Mr. Justice Harvey.

Mr. Bennett replied that he meant to say that he would have seriously to consider it.

Mr. Justice Scott said that they were bound to proceed to secure all the information they could. They might not get all the information but they had to do the best they could.

Mr. Justice Beck asked if Mr. Bennett had sent any personal reflection on Mr. Robson. To which Mr. Bennett replied that it was Mr. Robson's duty not to have withdrawn without having appeared before the Commission personally and stated the reason for his withdrawal.

Mr. Cushing Called.

Mr. W. H. Cushing was the first witness called, his examination being very brief and merely for the production of documents. Mr. Cushing produced copies of the specifications which were affidavits on the file and said that he had copies of certain other documents which were already before the Commission. At Mr. L. M. Johnston's request he promised to bring all the copies he had. Asked, as all previous witnesses were asked, whether he had any knowledge of any documents on the departmental files not now in existence, Mr. Cushing answered in the negative. Asked if he knew of any letters and papers having been destroyed, Mr. Cushing said that he knew of nothing of this kind.

In answer to Mr. Bennett Mr. Cushing said that on leaving the department he had not taken any documents from the files.

Mr. James McKinnon of the Canada West Construction Company was the next called. He was not present. Finally Mr. Walsh appealed to Dr. Waddell, chief engineer of the A. & G. W., as to whether McKinnon was present or he would be there.

"He said he would be here some time today," said Dr. Waddell.

Mr. Seymour, auditor of the Canada West Construction Company, who was in the room, was instructed to telephone for him, and in the meantime, Dr. Waddell, chief engineer of the A. & G. W., was called.

"Have you any connection with the Canada West Construction Company?"

asked Mr. Walsh after Dr. Waddell had stated his connection with the A. & G. W.

"They work under my directions," Dr. Waddell said that he had not brought any papers but that all the books and papers of the company which were in the office were open to inspection by the counsel.

Mr. Walsh asked him if he did not remember Mr. Minty having said that he did not want that examination made until he (Mr. Minty) was present.

"I heard that statement," said Dr. Waddell. "I see no reason why I should not remember Mr. Minty's statement."

"What have you got there?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"All correspondence since the work commenced."

"Any books?"

"Record books of accounts."

"Are there any letters from Mr. Clarke?"

"Mr. Clarke didn't write very much."

"Mr. Clarke Wrote Seldom."

"Have you received any letters from Mr. Clarke?"

"A few."

"Are they on the files and open to inspection?"

"I think so. I don't know of any letters that Mr. Clarke sent not being on file."

"Have any been destroyed?"

"No."

"And any lost?"

"Not that I know of."

Dr. Waddell said the letters were turned over to the stenographer to be filed. He had communicated with B. R. Clarke of the Canada West Construction Company, chiefly by telegram, and he believed that all those telegrams were on file. He did not remember, the witness continued to have had any correspondence with Mr. Minty, although there might have been an exchange of telegrams.

"You keep copies of all letters?"

"Yes, carbon copies are kept on file."

"You've received telegrams and sent telegrams to Mr. Clarke. Are they on file?"

"Yes. You must remember I have not seen the files. I just turned them over to the stenographer to be placed on the file."

In answer to further questions Dr. Waddell said that he had sent some telegrams in cipher but could not remember the name of the code. Again Mr. Seymour was directed to telephone to the office to have the code book sent to the Commission.

Mr. Bennett cross-examined Dr. Waddell as to his connection with the company. Dr. Waddell said that he had first heard from Mr. W. R. Clarke in the summer of 1908 when he (Dr. Waddell) was engaged in engineering work in British Columbia south of Kamloops. Mr. Clarke had written to him.

Mr. Bennett's Questions.

"Is that letter here?" asked Mr. Bennett.

"I don't know," replied Dr. Waddell. "It's probably in Kansas City."

"Your headquarters are in Kansas City?"

"That's where my firm is."

Dr. Waddell had sent Goddard to see Mr. Waddell, who was not sure this morning whether he had answered Mr. Clarke's letter. If he had, Mr. Clarke should have the answer. He had taken up his headquarters here. Dr. Waddell continued, in September 1909 but had been engaged on different pieces of work in connection with the A. & G. W. project since soon after September 1908.

Upon this information Chapman was immediately placed in custody, and the police arrested the woman, who is supposed to be Mrs. Fannie Matthews.

The woman, it appears, has been living in Edmonton with the negro, and with her children, for the past two months. She denies that her husband was murdered by her or the negro.

The Original Story

The story as told by the negro apparently has some foundation as the following taken from the People's Press, of Stillwater, Okla., would indicate. The date of the paper from which the clipping is taken is Thursday, Sept. 9, 1909:

"About Dec. 5 of last year, Lawrence Matthews, a prominent farmer living near the city, died under very suspicious circumstances.

"His funeral was held within a few days and apparently nothing was going to be done.

"Some of the neighbors, however, suspected foul play by reason of what they considered suspicious actions on the part of Mrs. Matthews, and a negro named Chapman.

"Some marks and bruises were seen by some parties upon the head and throat of Matthews. This excited their suspicions further.

AT GARFIELD'S FUNERAL

Guests Drank $15,000 Worth of Liquor Says Mr. Vibbert.

Rev. Mr. Vibbert, who is giving a series of addresses on the prohibition question in the city, spoke in Grace Methodist Church last evening, taking for his subject: "If you let the liquor traffic alone, will it let you alone?" The speaker maintained that no matter what sphere of life you walk in or how you try to keep away from it, it is practically impossible to escape from dangers from the result of its use.

He referred to the statement on his side of the line as very tender plants and in need of much nourishment, for on going on a trip either on business or pleasure they must take with them a goodly supply of liquors. As an illustration, after the funeral of the late President Garfield, one of the bills for expenses on the train that conveyed the remains to its last resting place was $15,000 for liquors supplied the guests.

Mr. Vibbert also gave several instances where intoxicated statesmen or officials were the cause of great loss of life and property. On one occasion a battle of champagne cost the Baltimore and Ohio Railway Company eight million dollars. One occasion a few glasses taken by the engineer in charge of the boilers in a large hotel caused an explosion and 60 lives were lost.

Another instance was that on the train on which the inventor of the Pullman cars took his last ride, a wreck occurred because a statesman who was aboard got drunk and pulled the bell rope.

APPLE TREE IN BLOSSOM

Leithridge, April 12.—J. W. McNeil reported yesterday to The Herald that he has an apple tree in his yard that is out in blossom. Note the date, April 11th. This is a record for fruit trees coming out in blossom in this country.

NEGRO, CONFESSING MURDER, SURRENDERS TO THE POLICE

Says he Murdered Oklahoma Farmer Over a Year Ago—White Woman, Wife of Dead Man, Arrested on Negro's Admissions.

Stating that the pangs of remorse gave him no peace, James Chapman, a negro about 25 years of age, went to the Mounted Police barracks yesterday and confessed to having murdered a white man, Lawrence Matthews of Stillwater, Oklahoma, more than a year ago. He also stated that a white woman, the wife of the murdered man, who has been living with him for some little time, had helped to commit the murder.

Upon this information Chapman was immediately placed in custody, and the police arrested the woman, who is supposed to be Mrs. Fannie Matthews.

The woman, it appears, has been living in Edmonton with the negro, and with her children, for the past two months. She denies that her husband was murdered by her or the negro.

"They kept watching Mrs. Matthews and Chapman, and their conduct only tended to convince these neighbors more firmly that foul play had been done."

"A grand jury then investigated the case, and did not find evidence sufficient to return an indictment.

"But the neighbors were not yet satisfied and they kept watching these parties, and their actions or rumors of their conduct only tended to add fuel to the flames and a conflagration was imminent. It burst in the form of an action by Angus Baker, a citizen of Stillwater, against Mrs. Matthews, to take her children from her because of her character and alleged immoral conduct on her part with Chapman, and the alleged killing of her husband."

REPORT SENT BACK AGAIN

Council Did Not Decide on New Commissioners.

MAN WITH A $10,000 BRAIN

Aldermen Contend That Davidson is Too Big a Success as Fire Chief to be Moved.

"Edmonton is getting to be a big boy now," remarked one of the aldermen at last night's council meeting, and the growing pains of the city, as it is slowly assuming the stature of a man, were very apparent last night, when the question of the appointment of the proposed new commissioners was up for discussion.

The report of Mayor Lee, and Ald. Garstey, which was presented last Thursday night, and which recommended the appointment of Mr. LaTorne and Mr. Davidson, as commissioners, was read again last night. A deal of silence of several moments followed the reading of the report. Then Ald. McInnis slowly rose to his feet and the fight for a "big man," a man with a $10,000 brain, to act as commissioner in Edmonton was on.

"This year the total expenditure of the city will be $200,000," began Ald. McInnis. "It surely must be seen that we require a man of no small ability. What we want is a man that can spend that money, and can spend it wisely. He must be a man of wide experience, training and ability. We want men who have been already tried not experimenters."

"Now here is the city engineer, Mr. LaTorne, who will have to spend $25,000 on the sewage system, and yet he has asked that an expert be brought here in order to counsel him as to the best way of spending this money. Now it will require all the attention of the engineer to see that this amount is spent wisely."

ERNEST GRAFF HAS SIGNED

Deller Baxter and McClair Start for Edmonton as Soon as Their Transportation Reaches Them.

Even though our Peerless Leader is still absent on the coast, engaged in the pleasant business of securing baseball stars, affairs in Edmonton are not at a standstill by any means.

Ernest Graff, who is in Spokane, is ready to start for this burg as soon as transportation reaches him. He says he would like to bring Jack Deener, formerly an umpire, but who has seen the error of this way and wants to return to the outfield. Moose also mentions Sturgeon, a fast shortstop, and Baum, a right hand pitcher. Deak will probably return on the coast, along with Kid McClair, who wants to bring a man named Kins from Valdez, Alaska. The Kid says the weather in Seattle is fierce, and he is looking forward to getting a taste of balmy Edmonton weather.

Ernest Graff has mailed in his signed contract. This wire was received from Phoenix, Ariz.

Richmond, Utah, April 13. "Terms accepted. Send transportation."

(Signed) J. P. DELLER.

With Deller signed up, the Eskimos' pitching staff looks mighty classy and if Deacon adheres to his intention to carry only three fingers, there will be some keen competition for places. Deacon should be back Thursday at the latest, as the players report here on Friday.

TOM RISKED HIS $10,000 LEGS

In an Attempt to Save a $30 Bicycle the Onondago Chief Put His Limb Out of Commission.

Toronto, April 13.—Can you imagine a sane man risking something that is worth $10,000—at least that is the valuation placed upon it a year ago—to save $30 worth? That is what Tom Longboat did. On Monday he took one of his freakish notions. He resuscitated his wheel from the ash heap in the cellar of his Galley avenue wigwam and started to ride to Hamilton to see Sol Mintz, his manager.

Big Chief was careering along gaily when he struck a bad hill. He piled over the hump of it unheeding, and was sailing down the other side gaily when the machine got away with him. It started down the rest of the incline at a dizzy pace. It looked as if the Indian would get a bump that would sink his floating ribs. Thomas had a similar idea, too. Naturally, he had serious objections, so he headed the bike for a fence.

So far so good, but when he dangled close to the fence he suddenly brought himself that the wheel was the famous red wheel he won for defeating Frank Nelson in Buffalo in the spring of 1927. Tom thinks a lot of that old car though it has been in a score of breakdances, collisions, and wrecks, so he stuck out one of those $10,000 legs to save a $30 ice cart, and now he is limping around like a hen with a humped foot. He went over the fence into the spring wheat. It will be a week before Tom ceases to give an imitation of Pasillo Ferro, the one-legged Dorando of the north.

TY. COBB QUILTS MOTOR CAME

Star Out-Fielder Wires the Detroit Club That he has Sold Out and Will Join the Team Immediately.

Detroit, Mich., April 13.—Ty Cobb wired President Navin today that he had sold out his automobile business and never again would be late at the training camp. He will join the Tigers at Evansville, Ind. Ty thus will get about two days' work before the opening of the league season. The new left field bleachers will be screened, not to protect the 25 cent patrons from the whizzing balls, but to prevent the sphere from being scored as home runs for visiting sluggers.

WANT TO OPEN ON THE ROAD

Lethbridge Fans Would Sooner Wait Until the End of May to See Their Team Perform.

Lethbridge, April 13.—Last year the Lethbridge pros, opened the baseball season at home and thereby escaped unsettled weather which lost considerable money for the team through inability to play. It is feared that the same long chances with the weather would be taken if the season were to open here again, and an effort will be made to have the schedule arranged to have Lethbridge commence on the road.

Lethbridge is not particular about having the 24th of May date at home either. It has rained here on this holiday for the last few years, but after that we have most favorable and consistent weather of any city in the league.

CITY AMATEURS HOLD MEETING

WRESTLER WANTS A MATCH HERE

George Le Page, Who is a Good Man at 150 lbs., Will Take on Any Local Mat Artist.

George Le Page, who bills himself "one of the best scientific wrestlers in the world," and is open to meet any man at 150 lbs., has written the following letter from Winnipeg, to Dean White:

"Dear Sir:
"I take the liberty to write you a few lines as Mr. Teller told me that you were a great sport.
"So I will be very pleased if you will accept a match for me out there, and let me know at once.
"I am ready to meet anybody.

JACK JOHNSON AT BELLEVILLE

Heavy Weight Appeared in Ontario Last Week and Made a Huge Hit—Kept His Word With Jennings.

Belleville, April 10.—A land and a big crowd met Jack Johnson, the world's champion pugilist, when he arrived in this city last night. At the opera house in the evening he was the star attraction at an athletic entertainment. Johnson sparred four rounds with Kid Cutler, and made a great impression by his fast work and evidently great condition. He made a speech afterwards saying he was glad to be in Canada, as he had always found Canadians to be friends of the fight.

His coming fight with Jeffries he thought would be one of the greatest contests ever seen in the ring. He hoped it would be contested on a fair and square way, and that the best man would win. Tom Flanagan, of Toronto was master of ceremonies last night, and there was a large audience present from all over the district.

CHANGE MADE IN CALGARY CLUB

The Calgary Baseball Club is Taken Over by the Calgary Athletic Club—Many Shares are Sold.

At a meeting held in Calgary last night a new club called the Calgary Athletic Club was formed to take over the baseball club.

The new provisional directors, elected last evening were C. Benjamin, F. Johnson, T. A. Hornbrook, O. C. Deunish, Hal Middleton, T. A. Hornbrook was elected secretary treasurer and other officials will be elected by the directors at a later date.

Pete Richardson was elected as a board of control.

The new club will purchase the franchise of the old baseball club, arrangements to be made by the present directors.

The capital of the new club will be $15,000 in $5 shares.

Plans for bleachers, grandstands and fences were submitted. Two up-to-date bleachers, 75 feet long, and each capable of seating 800 people will be erected. A fine stand will also be built. Grounds and diamond will be modelled after those at Portland, Cal, and are expected to become the best on the circuit. Over $6,000 worth of shares have already been disposed of, which will easily cover the cost of the new plant.

DEACON PICKS 'EM

Deacon White on Saturday handed into the Herald a list of the men he considers will make up his team as far as he can figure out now with the bunch he has. He may substitute one or two live ones he may pick up at the coast.

Deacon's picks: McClellan, catcher; Burridge; infielders; Jack Brennan, 2b; Pete Morse, ss; Roy Mills, 3b; outfielders; Pat Whitfield, lf; Jack Olson, cf; Moose Baxter, rf. This makes 12 men but Deak says that some of the others may show winning streaks later in the work, and if so he will place them, but only a dozen men will constitute the team—Calgary Herald.

CALEDONIAN FOOTBALL CLUB

A special meeting of the football management committee will be held in the separate school hall, Thursday, 14th inst., at 8 p.m. This meeting is very important and a full attendance is requested.

PICTURES ARE VERY IMPORTANT

Gleason Says if the Fight Goes Less Than Six Rounds the Films Will be as Precious as Pearls.

The shorter the fight at Emeryville, Cal, on July 4, the more valuable the moving pictures of the contest will be. Such is the opinion voiced by John H. Gleason, partner of Tex Rickard in promoting the affair. He added that the films will be as pearls without price if, in case the fight does go only about five or six rounds, Jeffries is declared the winner.

Gleason said that none of the seats to be sold by the railroads will be for less than $10. All the lower-priced seats will be held for sale in San Francisco, it is believed by the promoters that those who care enough to do extensive travelling to see the contest likewise will be willing to pay liberally to get near the ringside.

"If the fight goes four or five rounds with Jeffries the winner," said Gleason, "there is no way of estimating the value of the moving pictures. Of course, the general public wants to see Jeffries win. They will pay liberally to see the pictures of the contest, regardless of how long it goes, but they know that if the fight lasts thirty or forty rounds they can't possibly see all the rounds."

"It would be difficult, too, to make as good a picture showing with fifteen rounds as it would with fewer than ten. Then every minute that the men were in the ring could be minutely exhibited."

We expect to hear presently that the Philadelphia barber who refused to shave battling Nelson, is having himself dramatized. It is out of such stuff that headlines are made.

MANY HOCKEY CHANGES IN VIEW

Paddy Baskerville Thinks Wanderers Will Disband Next Season—Salaries Must be Reduced.

Ottawa, April 13.—According to Treasurer Teddy Baskerville, of the Ottawa Hockey Club, the makeup of the big hockey circuit in the east next winter will be vastly different to the one of the past season. Mr. Baskerville states the Montreal Arena will have a team in the league; but whether or not it will be the old Wanderers he is not prepared to say. At any rate some of the Wanderer players will be with the Arena team. He also believes the league will decide on a salary limit before the dickering for players starts next season, as the experience of the clubs the past season made it plain another year with such ruinous salaries would wreck the organization for keeps.

The financial statement of the Ottawa club has not yet been made out so that the reports of the club being so much behind on the season is all hot air. Mr. Baskerville says he is not yet in a position to even approximate how the Ottawas finished.

They Rather Like Deak.

The Alberta deposer generally remarks:

"The Calgary baseball team is particularly anxious to roll the Winnipeg Maroons in the dirt and it looks just about as though they could do it. We trimmed Winnipeg last year to a certain extent and took the bulk of the games, but we did not humiliate the lousy red skins to our liking. We believe that we shall be able to just about do it this season and we invite all outsiders to see just how we do it. Of course the Deacon is talking quite a bit now, but it is music to our ears. We all like to hear the Deacon talk. He is a real Edmontonian with the proper way of presenting things on an Edmonton standpoint. Five years ago it would have grated on us, but now of course things are different. We want to have Mr. William Carney win the pennant, but after that we would have a toss up whether it would be the Deacon or Bill Hamilton or Chesty Cox. Perhaps Deacon would get a majority of the votes if he should be submitted to a vote of the fans."

We want to have Mr. William Carney win the pennant, but after that we would have a toss up whether it would be the Deacon or Bill Hamilton or Chesty Cox. Perhaps Deacon would get a majority of the votes if he should be submitted to a vote of the fans."

JEFF. WILL USE SMOKE'S RING

Ring in Which Jim Will Box Daily Was Used by Johnson When Training for Fight With Al. Kaufman.

Rowardeman, Cal., April 13.—The ring in which Jeff is to box daily arrived last night and will be put into position by Farmer Burns and Bob Armstrong today. Although Jeff may not know it, it is the identical ring which Jack Johnson used at his training quarters near Emeryville, when training for Al Kaufman. This was learned from the parties who shipped the ring to Rowardeman from Oakland. It means that the ropes and stakes into which Bob Armstrong and Farmer Burns will bump when hard pressed by Jeff are the same ring boundaries against which Johnson had to force big Dave Mills and Young Peter Jackson. Jeff is planning fishing and hunting excursions to vary the monotony of training and he will also take in points of interest in the mountains. It is also the purpose to have Jeff visit the big tree grove at Felton next Monday, when it is the intention to name one of the big redwoods after the big fighter. When this is done, former President Roosevelt, Gen. Fremont, Gen. Grant and the rest of them will have nothing on Jeff. In the possession of a forest monument.

RAN A SHOE LACE INTO A TANNERY

Man in Liverpool Started Out With Nine Shillings and, by Playing the Ponies, Accumulated £1,400

It Seldom Happens.

Here is a story from the Daily Mail telling how a man with nine shillings turned them into £1,400. There was a man at Liverpool who, the night before the Grand National idly flung some loose change into the pool at chemin de fer. Nine shillings was the amount of it, and he left off winning over £400. He has a business partner in Tattersalls, and, following a little superstitions rumination, this man said to him just before the March Plate: "I fancy your luck after that chemin business. Keep your eyes open, and if you see a 'springer', back it, and then I'll tell you the National winner." A "springer," the uninitiated may not know, is something that "comes" strongly in the market, preferably late and from a decent price. There was an unmistakable one in this race in Brennan's Heavy, backed down from 10 to 1, to "fours." Nine shillings caught her on an unmistakable spring and took "six pence," or £150 to £25 (some explanation for the typo), going at once when her number went up to inform his partner of the gratifying fact. "That's all right," said the other, "Now go back and back Jenkinson," which he did, broking £200 to £12, and £1,000 to £70, and thus running the original few shillings into £1,400. A handsome return indeed!

THINGS LOOK BAD FOR LOCALS

Calgary Lacrosse Team Seems Intent Upon Forming a Southern League—This Leaves us Out in the Cold.

(The Albertan)

"The writer dropped in on Allan MacDonell soon after his return from practice last evening and inquired as to how many players were out and if any of the new men showed class. "There were a number of new players out," said Mr. MacDonell, "but who they were I am not telling. Until the players' certificates are signed no names of new players will be given out by me, for the simple reason that some time ago a great lacrosse player arrived in Calgary. His arrival here was made public through the medium of the press and a few days ago this same player departed southward and will no doubt be seen playing in Calgary wearing a red jersey instead of a blue as the Calgary management had hoped."

"As regards the outlook for lacrosse, I have not the slightest hesitation in saying that this will be the greatest season for the game since the organization of the provincial association."

"It is very hard at this early date to decide just what clubs will form the different districts. What most of us would like to see would be a notice in your paper some morning to the effect that the Strathcona Lacrosse club had organized and would be in the game this season. A district composed of Strathcona, Edmonton and Calgary would be highly acceptable to the local club. I regret to say, however, that from the latest reports there is no probability of the game being revived in Strathcona for this season at least."

"Just what the Edmonton club will do for games I am not prepared to say. If possible, the exhibition games will be arranged between Calgary and Edmonton clubs, but there is every likelihood that the local club will be in a district composed of clubs exclusively of clubs in the southern portion of the province. If Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, High River and Calgary were all in the one district, patrons of the game in this city would be treated to a brand of lacrosse equal, if not superior, to that of the games played three years ago between Calgary and Edmonton, Calgary and Strathcona, and Calgary and Lethbridge."

made in my official capacity, in almost every case.

In the above words Building Inspector Mackinnon explained to the council in his report last night just how it was that there had been no permit taken out for the erection of the new pump house. It will be remembered that a week ago, the council asked Mr. Mackinnon to report fully as to why he had not seen to it that a permit for the pump house had been taken out, and also to state what his relations in regard to civic buildings were. He was also asked to state what he thought of the present condition of the building.

He advised the immediate demolition of the building, and pointed out that the walls were far too heavy for the foundations. He further recommended that the foundations should be lowered below the frost line.

No Permits for Civic Buildings
The report then went on to show what the building inspector's relations to civic buildings have been in the past. After the Isolation Hospital had been built, he had been asked to make a thorough inspection of it, as the city was engaged in some litigation over the building with the contractor and architect. The inspection took him three days, and it was material in winning the case for the city. By this time, the work of the inspector had been nearly completed, although no permit had been taken out. Some defects were discovered and the matter satisfactorily arranged by notifying the contractor. Then the car barns were started, and again no permit was taken out, although the inspector asked that the plans be submitted to him. Again defects were found, and this time they were reported to the mayor. The mayor and the commissioners took a trip out to the barns and made what recommendations they wished, completely ignoring the official inspection. Then came the power house, and again the building was erected without a permit first being taken out.

"I'm," said Ald. Garriety, when the report was read, "that is a second edition of the Francis report." The speaker then wanted to know if the architect and the contractor on the pump house had been paid in full.

"No," replied Commissioner Butchart, "they have not." Or upon which we are to lay the blame? If it is the architect or the contractor, I think we should see them and ask them to make good. If they refuse, then we can decide later what to do. I think that the first thing to do is to put the building down," declared Ald. McKinnon.

Is a Bumbling Business

"This report is most certainly not an eulogy on what has been going on in the city government," was Ald. Hyndman's opinion. "The building inspector says that he has been ignored by the officials. If this is true, we can't blame him. Although I do not think that the city should get any more consideration than a private individual. It has been a bumbling business from start to finish. It is the most extraordinary thing imaginable that such a condition of affairs should exist. We must have an investigation and fix the responsibility."

"Let's pull the building down first," put in Ald. McKinnon.

Mr. Butchart thought there was no immediate danger, but when Ald. Lindsay appealed to Mr. McKinnon, the latter stated that although the walls might stand for another two months he wouldn't guarantee it.

"We've only got about $20,000 worth of machinery there, so I don't suppose that it would matter very much if the walls did fall, remarked Ald. McKinnon sarcastically.

It was finally decided to have the public works committee and the building inspector investigate the matter, and report to the council.

Bond Question Again

The following report of the commissioners in regard to the sale of bonds was adopted:

"For some time past your commissioners have been gathering information as to the best methods of financing the city's requirements. One of the amendments to our charter for the year 1909 was being petitioned to give the city power to issue scribbled or registered stock instead of debentures, if thought advisable. The adjournment of the Provincial legislature for two months has made it impossible to do anything in this matter in time for the present session. Another question receiving consideration was as to whether the city should sell the debentures outright of place them on the London market through a fiscal agent. Owing to the fact that so many of our officials were absent during the earlier part of the year, the time for voting on referred bylaws is much later than it would otherwise have been; consequently we will not be able to make delivery of our debentures until about July 1st, or two months after the date of polling.

"Under the circumstances we recommend that this issue of debentures be sold outright and that an advertisement be inserted in the Financial Post of this week calling attention to the fact that we will have approximately $1,500,000 debentures for sale, particularly of which can be had after April 20th, and that tenders will be received up to noon of Tuesday, May 10th, for our full issue."

A report from the commissioners stating that they considered it inadvisable to allow any and all surveys to see the city's special map, was referred back, with instructions that the commissioners interview the petitioners in regard to the matter.

A letter from the Edmonton Building Exchange, speaking for the Electrical Contractors Association, complained of the fact that the voltage supplied to private users was far in excess of what it should be, averaging 110, which is about 5 per cent. greater than it should be. This letter explained why there had been so many complaints about the electric globes. The current is so strong that they only last about one-third the time they should.

"There is no regulator in use at the power-house yet," explained the mayor, and the matter was referred to Superintendents Ormsby and McNaughton for a report.

A new planning bylaw, submitted by the Medical Health Officer, was laid on the table and will be taken up at the earliest possible date.

CAUCUS WAS ALL BORDEN

Conservative Members in Dominion House Endorse the Leader.

CONVENTION TO BE POSTPONED

On Account of Provincial Election in Nova Scotia, Great Conservative Gathering Will Be Held Over.

Ottawa, April 12.—The Conservative gathering of more than 500 members of parliament and more than 100 members of the House of Commons, which was held here yesterday, the first was a caucus of party members of parliament and the second was a meeting of the committee in charge of the convention called to discuss whether the convention should be held in June or postponed.

In view of the appeal of the Conservative party in Nova Scotia, where a local general election is pending and which it was understood would be brought off in June on date appointed by federal Conservatives for a party convention, they decided to postpone the convention, submitting a decision to a special Conservative caucus tomorrow morning.

Ten days or so ago R. L. Borden, opposition leader, sent a request to each of the delegates appointed to represent provinces asking his opinion as to whether the convention should be brought off in June or not, and this decision yesterday is the result. At the caucus of the Conservative members, the question of the leadership of the party was opened for discussion. Mr. Borden stated away from the caucus, said also several of the whips.

The situation was thoroughly threshed out, and it was frankly admitted that Mr. Borden's leadership had never been in doubt. Not a single voice was raised in opposition, on other hand every member who spoke warmly endorsed Mr. Borden.

The caucus broke up amid hearty cheering and the chairman, Mr. Geo. H. Parley, handed out the following official statement:

"At a Conservative caucus this morning a decision took place regarding the extraordinary reports that have lately appeared in newspapers concerning discussions in the Conservative party and alleged criticism of the leadership of Mr. Borden. There seems to have been no real foundation for any such reports and the caucus unanimously passed a resolution expressing implicit confidence in Mr. Borden as leader of the Liberal Conservative party, and it unanimously desired that he should continue to hold that position and pledged to him its allegiance and loyalty."

BLAME LAID ON COUNCIL

"I made the statement some time ago," continued Mr. McIntosh, "that what we wanted was a man, first of all. After we get him we can give him the necessary salary. I would be willing to give the right man as high as $20,000 a year, if we can get a man of him. Because one man is good in one department, it does not follow that he will be as successful in a larger sphere. I appreciate Mr. Latour and Mr. Davidson. In fact, I may say that there is no better man in Canada than the one that we have here, but I do not think that it would be wise to take Mr. Davidson away from the fire department."

"Don't let us ask a man with a 25,000 brain to fill a $10,000 position," argued the speaker. "I will pay us to get the best there is to be had. In the past we could have paid a good man $20,000 a year and still have saved money for the city."

"It is like taking two bites out of one cherry," declared Ald. Hyndman. "Latour is a good man where he is. Leave him there. And the same thing may be said in regard to Chief Davidson. I think that we are on the wrong road here. Edmonton is the only real municipal ownership city in the Dominion. Therefore, let us not look for men in Canada, but let us rather go to the fountainhead. Let us go to Glasgow for a commissioner. We might have to pay him ten or fifteen thousand a year, but he would know all about municipal control of utilities."

Ald. Armstrong thought that Chief Davidson was worth any amount of money as fire chief and that it would be folly to take him away from that department. He thought that the appointment of Mr. Latour would prove satisfactory, however. Ald. Landy agreed with the first two speakers.

"I forewarn the fate of this report before I submitted it," said Ald. Garriety. "And notwithstanding that I brought it forward. According to the city charter, we may have one or more commissioners. Now you know that it is an absolute impossibility to have a group of $10,000 experts making up the whole board of commissioners. You couldn't find them if you looked for them. What we want is brains men and a high salary does not necessarily mean brains.

"As far as Mr. Francis' report is concerned, I do not think that he has told us anything new. There has been no serious blunder, and I defy Francis to pass judgment on questions of municipal government. He is only an engineer, and does not know as much about us as we do. There is not a single word of evidence in his report to substantiate his charge that the council is to blame. Everything that is not going right at present is simply due to the tremendous and unforeseen growth of the city. What is the use of talking about a big salaried man? Why should we turn down these men who have served the city for several years and who know the ways of the city, simply because we do not have to pay them a big salary? Now if we do not choose men whom we know of whom we are going to choose? If this report is referred back we have a list of the names of outsiders that we can lay before you."

Ald. Armstrong thought that there were enough failures in the city due to incompetent men. He characterized the isolation hospital, the incinerator, the trunk sewer, the gas engine, the Robt. engines, and the pump house as failures, and wanted to know who was responsible for them. He stated that at a proper board of commissioners, all this could be avoided. Ald. McKinley thought that if Davidson was such a great organizer in the fire department, he should be given a chance to show what he could do in a larger sphere.

It was finally decided to let Mayor Lee and Ald. Garriety bring in another report, and see if they could not more fully meet with the wishes of the council.

NOT ONE PALTRY NICKEL

Address to Millions Barks at $25 Dentist Bill.

Chicago, April 12.—"Not a nickel! I never will pay that bill. I will fight it to the supreme court. I will let him attach all the clothes I've got, I will—," then emotion got the better of Miss Nellie Anheuser, member of the St. Louis brewing family and heiress to millions, whose pin money is said to be $250 a week, as she was telling of her experience with bailiffs and lawyers who sought to collect a bill for Dr. Robert Good, a dentist. The story briefly told this: Some time ago Miss Anheuser had work done by Dr. Good. He charged her $25 an hour. The bill has never been paid.

When she came to Chicago last night to attend the opera Dr. Good attached her trunks, including the one containing the gown she was to wear. After appeals for help, Edward F. Mayer, treasurer of the Stratford, gave a bond to the bailiff who was perched on the trunk.

"The work was no good anyway," $250 a week, as she was to wear. "I had to be done all over again. And $25 an hour! It's outrageous. I won't pay it. I'll fight it to the highest courts in Denver. Never, never will I pay a cent!"

"No, we didn't go to the opera," Miss Anheuser added.

G.T.R. in Rhode Island.

Providence, R.I., April 12.—The Grand Trunk charter act was passed unanimously in the House of Representatives with two slight technical changes. The charter after passing the House was communicated to the Senate, which remained in session for nearly an hour after its business had been completed in order to hasten the bill's progress through the Assembly.

The measure was referred to the Senate Committee on Corporations, Senator Sutherland, leader of the Republican, the upper branch, took any delay in the passage of the bill will be favorably reported and passed tomorrow.

Some of the provisions of the charter are regarded as very severe by Grand Trunk officials, but rather than take any chance of having the matter delayed the charter was accepted on promise of immediate action. If modifications are later found necessary they will apply to the Legislature at the next session.

Chicago, Ill., April 12.—Jack Johnson, who began light training here yesterday, found the gymnasium too cold for work today and contented himself with an automobile ride into the country.

A New Boxing Champion.

Boston, Mass., April 12.—W. Warren Barbour, son of W. W. Barbour, a wealthy New York thread manufacturer, proved the sensation of the Amateur Athletic Union's national boxing championships, the finals of which were held here last night. Barbour first defeated Kendall Salisbury of Brooklyn, New England amateur lightweight champion in the seventh round, and then won the national championship by knocking out Jos. Burke of Boston in three rounds. Burke had previously beaten Emery Payne of New York, three times national champion.

Jeffries Dons Gloves.

Ben Lomond, Cal., April 12.—For the first time since he began training J. J. Jeffries donned the gloves today in a fast three-round bout with Sam Berger. Jeffries completed the morning's exercise by a ten-mile run along muddy roads to Boulder Creek. During the boxing, although the going was hard, Jeffries scarcely drew a long breath. He no longer appears muscle-bound and his blows were delivered with the old smashing drive that made him champion. His footwork leaves much to be desired. Immediately after the bout the fighter devoted ten minutes to shadow boxing practice, and punched the bag for six rounds. In drubbing and punching the bag Jeff showed that he is working up good speed and energy in hitting and the day's work gave him much encouragement to the camp followers.

through the 3,000-foot cut that separates the two rivers.

The second week in May will see the start of the work on the temporary bridge across the McLeod.

The first train will cross the McLeod about the 1st of July.

The work of constructing a round house and yards at Edson, the divisional point seven miles west of Wolf Creek, will start about the middle of July.

The Prairie Creek will be reached by steel some time in the latter part of August, when the work of bridging it will be immediately commenced.

May Be Obstacles.

Of course there may be a thousand and one things that will in one way or another delay the work, but generally speaking the efforts of all those engaged on the work of construction is such that matters as rapidly as possible, so that Prairie Creek may be reached this fall.

INCREASE FOR C.P.R. MEN

Telegraph Operators Expect a Substantial Increase in Wages.

Winnipeg, April 13.—It is said that within a few days an amicable arrangement will be reached between the C.P.R. and its commercial operators, who are demanding a substantial increase. All the operators between Fort William and the coast will share in the advance which will amount to between ten and fifteen per cent. The increase will be based on the volume of business which is handled in the various offices and other conditions prevailing, all of which have been taken into consideration in the formulation of the demands of the operators. This means a graded increase and the matter is now under consideration between the company's officials and the committee of the union at Toronto.

THUGS HAUNT GOLD FIELDS

Murder and Theft Their Means of Livelihood.

MONTREAL MAN'S EXPERIENCE

His Comrade Was Murdered and a Good Part of Their Gold Was Stolen.

Montreal, April 13.—That there are persons of ghastly instincts who make it a business to haunt new gold fields and on the pretence of doing a certain amount of development work with the object of murder and theft of the proceeds of honest industry was the statement of Alexander McRae of this city who has arrived here from the mineral country in northern Ontario known as the Lac Seul district west of Port Arthur. He reached Windsor Station suffering from injuries he sustained in an attack by a desperado who killed his partner and left him unconscious just outside the shack where they had concealed the greater part of the gold they had found near the shore of the lake.

Mr. McRae says the victim of the tragedy was a St. John man named Wm. Scott, with whom he had been living for more than a year and they had worked a claim together with considerable success, having mined gold of the value of upwards of a hundred thousand dollars, the greater part of which they hid around the shack, but which was now deposited in a bank at Fort William. Last Saturday week his partner went to get some of the gold in view of a contemplated trip to Fort William and was knocked out by a camp loafer named Marlen, who struck him a terrific blow on the head with an axe. Mr. McRae rushed to his partner's assistance and he too was struck by the implement and remained unconscious for nearly twenty-four hours. When he recovered his senses he learned that his partner was dead but that the greater part of the gold was secure. The man Marlen who disappeared had been in the California and Alaska mines, and was suspected of being a person of predatory designs before this occurrence. There was, however, no proof of anything against him, although his appearance and talk was sinister.

RAYMOND BAND COMING.

The Raymond Rustler says: "The Raymond Military Band and the Raymond Concert Band held a meeting in the Oddfellows' Hall Saturday evening and organized a band which will be known as the Raymond Military Band. The new band elected Mayor Geo. H. Budd as president, Mr. S. S. Newton as leader, Mr. G. W. Rouse as manager, and Mr. Royal C. Owen as secretary-treasurer.

"The question of entering the band competition at Edmonton in May was discussed, and the members decided unanimously in favor of going. The sentiment of the meeting was very encouraging and Mr. Newton expressed the belief that with the combined efforts of the members Raymond could produce one of the best amateur bands in the province.

"The band boys have held several practices since the organization and are expecting to put on a concert in the near future to raise funds to defray their expenses to Edmonton."

Hughes for Supreme Court.

Washington, April 13.—The impression is growing among President Taft's close friends that he will offer either the Brewer vacancy or the next vacancy on the Supreme Court bench to Gov. Hughes. It is not known here whether the Governor would consider such an offer. It was said on good authority today that Gov. Hughes' name would have the support of Senator Root.

It is pointed out that the appointment of Gov. Hughes to the Brewer vacancy would deprive New York Republicans of their greatest asset in their campaign. For that reason New York Republicans in Congress would probably favor waiting until another vacancy occurs.

New Schedule Filed.

Ottawa, April 13.—The C.P.R. and G.N.W. telegraph companies have filed with the Board of Railway Commissioners as per recent order of that body a new schedule of charges on press messages.

CLARKE AND MINTY WILL NOT APPEAR

"I do not know that," declared Dr. Waddell.

Mr. Bennett continued a severe cross-examination of the witnesses as to by which company the different men around the A. & G. W. office were employed. The questions were put in Mr. Bennett's sternest manner, which led Mr. Justice Harvey to suggest that perhaps the counsel's manner was rather offensive.

"I do not say it is so intentionally," said his Lordship, "but it is hardly justified."

The Bank Accounts.

"What are your relations to the construction company?" asked Mr. Bennett.

"They are acting as contractors. They do as I tell them."

"Who do you tell?"

"Everyone doing work under me."

"Is that an answer?" asked Mr. Bennett, appealing to the Commission.

Mr. Justice Harvey thought it was satisfactory.

"Can you give names?" continued Mr. Bennett.

Dr. Waddell mentioned Mr. Seymour.

"For a long time," said Mr. Waddell, "I knew nothing of the construction company. I knew that it was formed and I said no attention to it. I had my own work to do."

"Any communications in writing he had had with the company, said Mr. Waddell, would be on the office files."

"Had the company any bank accounts?"

"There was one account in my own name?" asked Mr. Waddell.

"Yes," replied Dr. Waddell, adding that it was in the Royal Bank.

"Are the cancelled cheques and vouchers in this province?"

"They were all kept."

"Are they available for counsel?"

"Yes."

"All the accounts were in my name," said Dr. Waddell in answer to further questions. "The money was given to me to spend."

There were no accounts, he said in the name of the Canada West Construction Company or of the A. & G. W.

"Did you send any telegrams through any bank?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"I think I did."

"Through what bank?"

"Through the Royal Bank."

"Do you know what code was used?"

"No."

"You wrote the message out and sent it to the bank to be put in code?"

"Yes."

"Did you keep copies?"

"I believe a copy of every message was kept."

Mr. McKinnon Appears.

When James McKinnon appeared the first questions put to him were by Mr. Justice Scott who asked him why he had not obeyed the summons to appear there at ten o'clock.

"I did not think that there would be anything doing until the afternoon," said Mr. McKinnon, and his Lordship pointed out that the letter of the subpoena had to be obeyed.

Mr. McKinnon was questioned as to the telegrams which had been sent in code. He informed the Commission that the Slater code had been used.

"How long have you been sending telegrams in cipher?" Mr. Walsh asked.

"About a month, possibly two."

"Under whose instructions?"

"At my own suggestion to Mr. Clarke," said Mr. McKinnon, who added that the code had been used only in messages to Mr. Clarke.

Prepared Messages Himself.

"Who prepared the messages sent in cipher to Mr. Clarke under your name?" asked Mr. Bennett.

"I did."

"Under whose instructions?"

"I believe the messages were of my own."

"Where did you get the information?"

"From my own personal knowledge of affairs here."

"I refer to one particular message," said Mr. Bennett.

"For one message," said Mr. McKinnon, "I got the information from Mr. Biggar."

"I want you to think a minute about it. You did not get the information from anybody else?"

"From nobody else."

"Directly or indirectly as far as you know?"

"I know."

"We shall see," said Mr. Bennett. "Where did you write them?" continued Mr. Bennett.

Bank Manager Called.

Mr. McMillan manager of the Royal Bank, said that on a few occasions his bank had been the medium of cipher messages. He had not brought his code book according to the subpoena because he believed that it was a private matter. He wanted time to write to his general manager and was not willing to produce it until he had the consent of his general manager.

Mr. Justice Harvey sustained Mr. McMillan in the matter of not disclosing the bank's private code, the other commissioners agreeing. When asked if he were willing to produce the bank's telegram copy book, Mr. McMillan again said that he would have to have the consent of the general manager.

"We are asking only for the messages which were sent through the medium of your bank," said Mr. Walsh.

Mr. McMillan said that he was quite willing to produce them. They had copies of the plain messages and he would be willing to say on oath that they were the proper translations of the code messages. The accountant through whose hands the messages also passed could be called to substantiate his evidence as to the translation of the messages. This satisfied the Commission.

In answer to further questions, Mr. McMillan said that Dr. Waddell had kept his account in the Royal Bank.

"Have you any objection to having us examine the account?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"I have no objection if Dr. Waddell has not," replied Mr. McMillan.

"I have no objection," said Mr. Waddell from the back of the room.

Missing Telegrams Secured.

Mr. Walsh then told the Commission that some letters had been found in the "suggested legislation" file bearing on the A. & G. W. Railway, and that they would be put in as exhibits.

The missing telegrams referred to in a letter from Mr. Minty to Mr. Woods had been found. Mr. Walsh also reported. They were addressed to the Dominion and Manitoba Railway Departments asking for information as to the treatment of sidings in government guarantees. They were also put in as exhibits.

The Commission then adjourned to meet tomorrow morning at ten o'clock in the court room on Jasper avenue.

NEGRO CONFESSES MURDER

days before the close of the trial, one of the jurors became sick; and a fight with fists took place between opposing attorneys. At the end of it all, after being out for one afternoon and a whole night, the jury brought in a verdict that the two children, a boy and a girl, be taken from their mother and placed in the hands of the juvenile court.

Immediately after this Chapman, for whom a warrant on a charge of perjury had been issued, shipped out of the county and had not been heard of again until his confession and surrender yesterday.

An appeal against having her children taken from her, was started by Mrs. Chapman. The date for the hearing of the appeal was set for sometime last January, but on the very day Mrs. Matthews left Stillwater, taking her children with her.

In the trial of the Baker vs. Matthews case, one of the witnesses stated that he had heard Mrs. Matthews say: "I will spend every dollar I have before they shall convict Jim, and if they do convict him and hang him, I want them to hang me by his side."

Waiting for Instructions

When a reporter from The Capital went to the barracks this morning, and asked about the case, the reply was, "Nothing to give out yet."

Mrs. Matthews, however, if that is the woman's name, and there seems no cause to doubt it, came downstairs to telephone. She was dressed in black with a rich fur jacket on. She is above the average height, has black hair and dark, and is rather good looking.

"Of course it may be that the negro is insane, but I believe he is telling the truth," said Insp. Cuthbert to the Capital. "I have wired to the States to find out what they wish done, and until I hear from the Stillwater authorities I do not care to give any particulars."

The local authorities have had an eye on the children for some time past, and it is understood that action will be taken to have them taken away from the mother.

Just Good Enough To Be Dangerous

If poor advertising mediums were ENTIRELY worthless they would not be dangerous! For they could not, then, make any appeal whatever to sensible advertisers.

But an advertising medium which has a LITTLE MERIT is, like "a little knowledge," a "dangerous thing." Some business men there are, always, who--for considerations of "cheapness," etc.,--will either rely upon such mediums wholly, or give them an absurdly large part in their advertising campaigns.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

the men to get up steam-in the company's tug.

All this time the officers of the American warship were dividing their attention between land and sea. As their vessel was coming up out of the misty horizon, the men on board knew it to be a British man-of-war.

Suddenly a party of white men approached the steaming vessel. A hundred eager hands were extended, a hundred voices cried out for mercy, a hundred Mohammedan "beat, these heads in abject submission.

Hollingsworth Chase, Lord Deppingham and a familiar figure in an ill-fitting red jacket and foreign cap strode firmly, defiantly between the rows of humble applicants. Close behind them came a tall, resolute grenadier of the Rapp-Thorberg army.

"Make way there! Make way!" Mr. Bowles was crying, brandishing the antique broadsword that had come down to Wyckholme from the dark ages. "Stand aside for the British government! Make way for the American!"

Rasula's jaw hung limp in the face of this amazing exhibition of courage on the part of the enemy. He was glaring intently at the calm, unflinching face of the man from Brodney's, who was now advancing upon him with the assurance of a conqueror.

"You see, Rasula, I have called for the cruiser, and it has come to my bidding." Turning to the crowd that surged up from behind, bowed and cringing, Chase said: "We retire with you. If I give the word that ship will blow you from the face of the earth. I am your friend, people. I would do you no harm, but good. You have been misled by Rasula. Rasula, you are not a fool. You can save your people. I am here as the servant of these people, not as their master. I intend to remain here until I am called back by the man who sent me to you. You have."

Rasula uttered a shriek of rage. He had been crouching back among his cohorts, painting with fury. Now he sprang forward, murder in his eyes. His arm was raised, and a great pistol was leveled at the breast of the man who faced him so coolly, so confidently. Deppingham shouted and took a step forward to divert the aim of the frenzied lawyer.

A revolver cracked behind the tall American, and Rasula started in his tracks. There was a great hole in his forehead. His eyes were bursting. He sank to the ground dead.

The soldier from Rapp-Thorberg, a smoking pistol in his hand, the other raised to his helmet, stepped to the side of Hollingsworth Chase. "By order of her serene highness, sir," he said quietly.

"Good God!" gasped Chase, passing his hand across his brow. Deppingham, however, represented a shudder, addressed the stunned natives: "Take the body away. May that be the end of all assassins!"

The King's Own came alongside the American vessel in less than an hour. Accompanied by the British agent, Mr. Bowles, Chase and Deppingham left the dock in the company's tug and steamed out toward the two destroyers. The American had made no move to send men ashore.

Standing on the forward deck of the swift little tug, Chase unconsciously accounted for the timely arrival of the two cruisers.

"Three weeks ago I sent out letters by the mail steamer, to be delivered to the English or American commanders, wherever they might be found. Undoubtedly they were met with in the same port. That is why I was so positive that help would come sooner or later. I knew that if I brought the cruisers my power over these people would never be disturbed again."

"My word!" exclaimed the admiring Bowles.

"Chase, you may be terrific, but you are the most dependable chap the world has ever known," said Deppingham, and he meant it.

The warships remained off the harbor all that day. The British captain consented to leave a small detachment of marines in the town to protect Chase and the bank. To a man the islanders pledged fealty to the cause of peace and justice. They shouted the names of Chase and Allah in the same breath and denounced the letter that he preserved the former's head for all eternity.

The King's Own was to convey the ill-fated letter to Aden, whether the cruiser was bound. At that port a P. and O. steamer would pick them up. One white man elected to stay on the island with Hollingsworth Chase, who steadfastly refused to desert his post until Sir John Brodney's fleet arrived.

His mission was completed. That one man was the wearer of the red jacket, the bearer of the king's commission in Japan, the undaunted Mr. Bowles. The Princess Geneva, the wistful light deepening hourly in her blue-gray eyes, avoided being alone with the man whom she was leaving behind. She had made up her mind to accept the fate inevitable. He had reconciled himself to the ending of an impossible dream. There was nothing more to say except farewell.

The last day dawned. The sun smiled down upon them. The soft breeze of the sea whispered the curse of destiny into their ears. It crooned the song of heritage. It called her back to the fastnesses where love may not venture in.

The chateau was in a state of upheaval. The crocus was beginning. The princess waited until the last moment. She went to him. He was standing apart from the rest, coldly indifferent to the pangs he was suffering.

"I shall love you always," she said simply, giving him her hand—"always, Hollingsworth." Her eyes were wide and hopeless; her lips were white.

He took her hand. "May God give you all the happiness that I wish for you," he said. "The end!"

She looked steadily into his eyes for a long time, searching his soul for the hope that never dies. Then she gently withdrew her hands and stood away from him, humbly in her own soul.

"Yes," she whispered. "Goodbye." He strained forward his shoulders and drew a deep breath through compressed nostrils. "Goodbye! God bless you," was all that he said.

She left him standing there. The well between them was too high, too impregnable, for even love to storm. Lady Deppingham came to him there moment later. "I am sorry," she said tenderly. "Is there no hope?"

"There is no hope—for her," he said bitterly. "She was condemned too long ago."

On the pier they said goodbye to him. He was laughing as gently and as blithely as if the world held no sorrows in all its mighty grasp.

"I'll look you up in London," he said to the Deppinghams. "Remember, the real trial is yet to come. Goodbye, Brownie. Goodbye, all. You may come again another day."

The launch slipped away from the pier. He and Bowles stood side by side, pale faced, but smiling, waving their handkerchiefs. He felt that Geneva was still looking into his eyes even when the launch crept up under the walls of the distant ship.

Slowly the great vessel got under way. The American cruiser was already low on the horizon. There was a single shot from the King's Own.

single shot from the King's Own, a ringing farewell. Hollingsworth Chase turned away at last. There were tears in his eyes, and there were tears in those of Mr. Bowles.

"Bowles," said he, "it's a beastly shame they didn't think to say goodbye to old man Slings. He's in the same grave with us."

CHAPTER XXXIII. A TOAST TO THE PAST.

THE middle of June found the Deppinghams leaving London for a voyage into the mysterious south seas. They no longer were interested in the island of Japan, except as a reminiscence, nor were they concerned in the vagaries of Taswell Slings' will.

The estate was settled—closed! Two months had passed since the Deppinghams departed from Japan, for good and all. Many events have come to pass since that memorable day, not the least of which was the exchanging of £500,000, less attorneys' and executors' fees. Lady Deppingham and Robert Browne divided the amount of money and passed into legal history as the "late claimants to the estate of Taswell Slings."

It was Sir John Brodney's enterprise. He saw the way out of the difficulty, and he acted as pathfinder to the other and less perceiving counselors, all of whom had looked forward to an endless controversy.

The business of the Japan company and all that it entailed was transferred by agreement to a syndicate. Never before was there such a stupendous deal in futures.

A REVIEW OF THE MARKETS

Tuesday, April 12. April is fairly well advanced and exceptionally fine weather continues, a trifle colder than a week ago, but still a matter to congratulate ourselves upon. The probable effect on the season's operation is a matter of some speculation. It is argued in some quarters that it is idle at this stage to make any forecast, that so much can happen between now and harvest time that present conditions are of little significance. "H. D." in the Vegreville Observer lays emphasis on this. What he says is largely true. It is foolish to discount results at this date but the fact remains that a good start means much and that we should congratulate ourselves on the fact that so much spring work has already been made possible. Nor is it surprising that people make comparisons with other years. Even the Toronto Weekly Sun, which certainly does not belong to the class of boomers, out of whom "H. D." takes a fall, has this to say:

"Was there ever such a spring as the one we are now enjoying? The weather during March was almost ideal and if present conditions continue the prospects are that seeding will be finished nearly six weeks earlier than it was last year. General experience is, too, that the earlier the spring, the better the crop. In 1903, when he had a season somewhat corresponding with that of this year up to the present date the average yield of fall wheat to the acre was nearly three bushels more than it was in the backward season of 1907. In barley the average yield was six bushels in excess of 1907 and in oats the advantage in favor of 1903 compared with 1907 amounted to thirteen bushels to the acre. If past experience counts for anything, therefore, we ought to have for 1910 one of the best crops ever gathered in Ontario.

"Compared with this there come from all quarters reports of steadily increasing commercial activity. In the United States railway earnings so far this year are more than 13 per cent. better than they were last year, while bank clearings show an increase of upwards of 21 per cent. In Canada similar reports are heard as to the general situation. So far everything is as favorable as it well could be."

The Wheat Situation.

In their last report, Thompson Sons & Co. have this to say:

"Apparently the last echoes of the damage reports regarding the winter wheat crops in Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska have been heard during the past week, as the reports of damage have become fainter day by day, and along with them a good deal that is optimistic as regards the crop prospect has been expressed through the same channels that had the crops pretty nearly killed two or three weeks ago. There is no doubt, however, that a good deal of the wheat crop in the three States mentioned above has been seriously damaged, and some of it killed outright, so that hundreds of thousands of acres have been, or are in the course of being, plowed up and planted with oats or corn. But the large increase in acreage of winter wheat in the United States—some 3,000,000 acres more than last year—allows considerable margin for abandonment, so as probably to leave as much, or perhaps even more, acres to be harvested than last year. The weather, though not all that might be desired, has been more favorable for the growth of the crop during the past week than for some weeks previously."

"A year ago from this date to the middle of May, world's shipments averaged barely 8,000,000 bushels per week, and after that until the end of September, notwithstanding the influence of extremely high prices, they were only moderate. This summer, however, even although the Argentine has to take a back seat in exporting, there are large quantities to come from Russia, Australia and India, and if the spring wheat crop of this continent shows up with a good prospect in June there will be a large balance to go for export from America, not to mention the free selling there would be of the new crop for future delivery. The only thing we can think of as likely to prevent prices sinking to a lower level is a failure of the spring wheat crop in the Dakotas and Western Canada. There is no sign of this at the moment, but the season has opened up over these areas abnormally early, and the condition of the weather is at least six weeks earlier than ordinary. Almost entire lack of rain in August, September and October last year has left the soil, both upper and subsoil, very dry, and two previous seasons like this within the last thirty years were followed by poor crop seasons. We hope it may not be so this year, but such a possibility should be kept in mind, for it would have important influence on prices later on. In the meantime the weather over the spring wheat country is all that one could wish for getting on with the work of seeding, etc., and good reports as to progress of same may be expected. This, with better reports regarding the winter wheat crop in the United States, increasing visible supplies, liberal world's shipments, and dullness in demand for flour, make a combination against which prices which will be hard to withstand so long as it lasts. European crops in a general way are reported as doing well. Nowhere are the crops poor or seriously damaged by winter conditions, and in central Europe, where crops were small last year, there is the prospect of big yields."

"Our Winnipeg market is in a fairly healthy condition, but the volume of business is quite moderate. There are buyers for all the cash wheat offered for sale, and no difficulty is experienced in getting the full market value for everything offered. The tendency of prices is downward, following the course of outside markets, but reductions in price are small compared with the declines which take place in U. S. quotations. The movement of wheat from the country is moderate and averages smaller than a year ago. Farmers' deliveries are over until after seedtime, all being employed with spring work on the farms. Lake navigation is intended to open by the 15th inst., everything being in shape for it now, which is abnormally early. Lake freights and lake and rail rates to seaboard are expected to be unusually low this year, and ocean rates are moderate."

About Town

The case against S. R. English, a rancher of the Vegreville district, charged with signing a false pedigree for a shorthorn that he sold, came up in the Strathcona police court on Monday and was postponed for three weeks.

One of the six piles sunk by John Walter for the C.P.R. high level bridge piers snapped under the thirty-ton weight placed on it. The two other piles on the south side of the river are standing the test perfectly. The work on the three on the north side is now being done. It is being superintended by a C.P.R. engineer.

While riding along Fraser avenue last night, at about 9 p.m., Mr. Joseph Hoffman was thrown from his horse. It seems, stampered, throwing him. He seems, stampered, throwing Mr. Hoffman forward so that he fell on the back of his neck, badly injuring the muscles. He is now in the Misericordia Hospital and Dr. McDowell, who attended him, says he is progressing favorably.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Local Council of Women of Edmonton will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. building. Mrs. O. C. Edwards, of Macleod, organizer of the Edmonton Local Council and vice-president of the provincial councils of Alberta and Saskatchewan, will address the meeting, and this fact alone ought to attract every woman in Edmonton who is at all interested in the work of women in this and other countries.

In the Supreme Court this morning the case of the Vermont Farm Machine Co. vs. Bleiler Bros. and Helzig, was heard before Judge Stuart. Mr. O'Brien defended Bleiler Bros. and Mr. Newing appeared for Helzig, while Mr. Newell prosecuted for the Vermont Machine Co. The plaintiffs brought a case against defendants to recover value of thirty-five separators delivered to the defendant some time ago, and for which they received notes. Helzig, who guaranteed the notes of Bleiler Bros., now practically contends that he was intoxicated when he signed the guarantee and also that he being a Galician did not understand the meaning of the document.

QUEBEC WILL SAVE FOREST

Premier Gouin Announces Progressive Policy for Province.

PROHIBIT PULP WOOD EXPORT
Province Will Also Draw a Much Larger Revenue From Its Lumber Lands.

Quebec, Que., April 13.—Premier Gouin yesterday announced in the House the new policy of the government as regards pulp wood. The premier said it had been decided to prohibit the exportation of all pulp wood cut on the crown lands, before it was manufactured in Canada. Secondly to increase the stumpage duty by sixty per cent; and thirdly, to increase the ground rent per square mile from $3 to $5. This important announcement came at the end of a speech lasting two and a half hours in reply to the criticisms of the leader of the opposition on the budget speech of the provincial treasurer.

In taking up the matter of the forestry question of the province Premier Gouin said that he had made a preliminary announcement some time ago as to the intention of the government of the province to follow the example of Ontario, and prohibit the exportation of pulpwood cut on crown lands before manufactured in Quebec. He has said that it was his intention to prohibit the exportation of pulp wood before it is manufactured in the province, and repeat that now, said the premier. In giving the reason for the delay in making the public announcement in the House, Premier Gouin said that it was well known that there had been a threat of a tariff war between Canada and the United States.

Such a war concerned the province indirectly and the desire was not to embarrass the federal government, though Ottawa had not asked for any delay. However, declared Premier Gouin, it is the intention of this government to prohibit the exportation of pulp wood cut from crown lands before it is manufactured in the province of Quebec in the same way as the prohibition applies in Ontario. We also intend to increase the stumpage duty, which have not been increased for ten years. The increase will be about sixty per cent. Finally, as regards the ground rent the increase will be from $3 to $5 a square mile.

Subsequent to the interview Premier Gouin was asked when it was the intention of the government to stop the exportation of pulp wood. He replied an order-in-council would be issued this session of the legislature. The premier during the course of his remarks on pulp wood spoke as if the new order of things would be enforced in the near future on the three points he mentioned.

R. S. Sears, of Kingston, Ont., who has been in Edmonton looking over the possibilities, leaves on the C.N.R. for Winnipeg, where he will stop over for a few days.

Lady Tupper and the Misses Tupper who were in Edmonton yesterday for the Tupper-Dickey wedding, have just returned from Europe, where they spent several months.

Hon. Frank Oliver and Miss Clara Oliver are leaving for Edmonton and the West in June.—Ottawa Free Press.
L. S. Gove, for the past two years editor of the Portage la Prairie Review, came this week accompanied by his family for Alberta, where he will take up residence. He will engage in general journalistic work with headquarters at Calgary.—Winnipeg Free Press.
The Toronto Star contains the following announcement which is of much interest to Edmontonians: "The engagement is announced of Edith Isabelle Giffard, daughter of Mr. W. A. Jackson, Upper Canada College, and Mrs. Jackson, to Mr. Harry M. Evans, of Edmonton."

Monday's Winnipeg Telegram says: "Sir Ernest Shackleton, the British explorer who reached a point nearer the South Pole than any other man, is in the city today, but he is harder to locate than he found the South Pole. P. E. Rutland, of 1115 Dufferin avenue, who professes to be a friend of the famous explorer, claims he is entertaining him, but Mr. Rutland says it is his business where his guest is. The Canadian Club is anxious to entertain Sir Ernest, but they are also finding it difficult to locate the distinguished visitor and cannot secure very much information from Mr. Rutland. Sir Ernest is accompanied by his sister, Miss Shackleton, who was formerly assistant superintendent of the Children's Hospital on Beaconsfield street."

A PLATINUM STRIKE

Coleman, April 12.—For some time mining men and prospectors have been seeking to unearth a platinum vein which has been showing every evidence of being in existence for some years. The lead was found just south of Wheatcroft's ranch and about one mile south of the C.P.R.

Samples of the ore and quartz have been sent to Colorado and the returns show that the percentage of platinum gold and silver will average high. A shaft at present is being sunk and a number of men are engaged in opening up and developing the property.

A syndicate has been formed, composed of T. D. Bance, T. D. Borch, G. Bradley and others. As soon as the vein is well defined and satisfactory returns again made, a cyanide plant will be installed. The Silver Creek Syndicate also intend to put their own shaft on the market next spring and construct a siding to the mine.

THE DAY IN STRATHCONA

Budget of News from the City on the South Bank of the River

Mr. A. Appleton, of Douglas Bros. store is spending a few days visiting down the C. and E. He will visit Stettler and Castor on his trip.

A meeting of the Strathcona school board was held last evening at which delegates were present from the East Edmonton district. A satisfactory agreement regarding the division of the districts was arrived at.

A game of baseball between Alberta College and the University is being arranged to take place on Saturday at 2 o'clock p.m.

In the recent supplemental examination at the university the following students obtained the required stand: Latin 1, Misses Anderson and Hyson, Messrs. Miesner, Kettys, and Davidson; In Physics, Messrs. Hyson and Montgomery.

On Saturday night at 7:30 the annual meeting of the Knox Presbyterian Tennis club will be held in the basement of that church. All members of the club and all interested in the game will be heartily welcome at this meeting.

Smith and Radford, local contractors, are opening an up-town office near the C.P.R. station in the Malone building. The firm will do all kinds of transfer work besides their regular line of excavation work and moving and hauling houses.

An excellent concert was given in the Methodist Church, the programme being composed entirely of talent from the Alberta College. A large crowd was present to welcome the members of Alberta College in their first concert given in Strathcona. It is hoped that this will not be their last appearance in the city.

$6,000,000 FOR HARBOR

Wonderful Improvements to be Made by Montreal Authorities.

Montreal, April 13.—Briefly put, the improvements contemplated in the Montreal harbor within a decade are: Elevators with a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels. A floating dock with a capacity to carry the largest ship entering the St. Lawrence and a complete ship repairing plant. Five big, new, modern steel sheds. Elevated tracks from the Jacques Cartier pier to the Racine pier, twenty-two miles in extent, with connections to the wharves and railroads and double-tracked for a considerable distance. A new, enlarged and elevated Victoria pier. A new pier extending from opposite the offices of the Harbor Commission. Seventy-four acres of new quays. Extensions of about 300 feet to each of the three quays above Victoria pier. An addition to the Bickerdike pier. The complete alteration of a channel on the far side of St. Helen's Island to thirty-five feet. The extending of the ship channel under the entire harbor to the canal. The building of a channel 10,000 feet long south of St. Helen's Island. The removal of about forty islets or mounds above Victoria Bridge to hold the ice in spring. The raising of the wharves below Victoria pier to high water level and covering them with sheds.

Canadian Bisle Team.

Ottawa, April 13.—This year's Canadian Bisle team will have as commandant Lt.-Col. Edwards of St. John, N.B., while Major J. E. Hutchinson of Ottawa will be adjutant. These two officers are the choice of the D.R.A., and although they have not formally accepted as yet, it is understood that they will do so.

Spreading West.

London, April 13.—Hon. Adam Beck's box manufacturing company is about to establish a big branch at Winnipeg, and greatly extend the Montreal factory. In the latter place a new building will be erected and a hundred extra men employed. The Hamel Bread Company of this city, with a branch at Toronto, has also purchased a site in Winnipeg, and will put up a $50,000 building.

Des Moines, Ia., April 13.—

The Democrats of Iowa have practically decided on Martin J. Wade of Iowa City as their candidate for governor, and Senator Edwin G. Moon of Ottumwa for lieutenant-governor. It seems not unlikely that they alone will be the candidates at the primary in June. Wade formerly was congressman from the second district. His friends, it is said, have been in consultation with Harmon of Ohio and other national Democrats. His candidacy is thought possibly to have some relation to the national Democratic situation. He is the national committeeman from Iowa, and Iowa Democrats have been discussing a national ticket composed of Harmon and Wade.
